

SEAFORD HISTORICAL MUSEUM

P.O.Box 1254
Seaford, N.Y. 11783

Seaford's third schoolhouse was built in 1893, dedicated on Arbor Day in 1894, and housed the village school children for almost thirty years. On opening of the Jackson Avenue school in 1921, the building was moved a block away and became the headquarters of the Seaford Fire Department. On July 4, 1976, in commemoration of the Nation's Bicentennial, the structure, now located on Waverly Avenue between Jackson and Southard was dedicated as the Seaford Historical Museum.

The Museum houses much memorabilia of Seaford as a bay and farming town. Special loans from other museums and private collections will be displayed on a rotating basis. Contributions of a Financial or Historical nature are welcome. Donations are tax deductible. If your Company matches Donated Funds, please request them.
